

A.R. “Trey” Hodgkins, III

Trey Hodgkins is the CEO and President of Hodgkins Consulting, LLC where he is focused on information technology hardware, software, services, and solutions providers in the public sector. Trey has over 36 years in the Federal, State and Local government arenas, with more than half of that time focused on the broad policy arena facing information technology contractors in the public sector.

Trey holds two bachelor's degrees - in Political Science and History – from Louisiana State University and a Master's degree in Legislative Affairs from The George Washington University.

Trey currently serves as the Chair of the Cybersecurity Division at the National Defense Industrial Association and is a subject matter expert for the DHS Information and Communication Technology Supply Chain Risk Management Task Force (ICT SCRM TF).

He has been awarded the prestigious Fed 100 Award for his work on IT procurement reform and is a Director of the Procurement Round Table.